

Europe Forestry Products Inbound Trade Mission to Kentucky & West Virginia

*Kentucky & West Virginia
September 13-16, 2027*

Europe continues to be an important market for forestry products, including hardwood lumber, logs, wood components, and value-added wood products. European buyers are actively seeking reliable suppliers that can provide high quality products, consistent supply, and sustainably managed forest resources.

Exporting to Europe allows SUSTA companies to expand their international presence, diversify their customer base, and reduce reliance on domestic markets. Building relationships with European buyers can create new business opportunities and support long term growth. This event will bring qualified forestry products buyers from across Europe to Kentucky and West Virginia for business meetings, networking, and site visits. While the mission is hosted in Kentucky and West Virginia, companies from other states within the SUSTA region are welcome to participate.
